DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-45, drawn to a method of determining the molecular flux rates of a plurality of proteins in all or a portion of the proteome of a cell, tissue or organism.

Group II, claim(s) 46-47, drawn to rights to drugs or other therapeutic agents.

The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the technical feature of Groups I-II is a method of determining the molecular flux rates of a plurality of proteins in all or a portion of the proteome of a cell, tissue or organism, which was known to be obvious over the prior art (See, e.g., ISR, citation 2 in the IDS of 11/17/07) and therefore is not a special technical feature. Since no "special" technical feature is present, there is no Unity of Invention.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

The many and multiple isotope labels (e.g., claims 1, 13-16, 26)

The many and multiple organic metabolites or organic metabolite precursors to said cell (e.g., claims 1, 24, 25, 35).

The many and multiple diagnostic or therapeutic agents (e.g., claims 41, 42, 46-47)

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species [i.e., elect specific isotope label(s), elect a single and specific organic metabolite or precursor thereof, elect a single and specific diagnostic or therapeutic agent] to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Isotope labels (e.g., claims 1, 13-16, 26)

Organic metabolites or organic metabolite precursors to said cell (e.g., claims 1, 24, 25, 35).

Diagnostic or therapeutic agents (e.g., claims 41, 42, 46-47)

The following claim(s) are generic: 1-47.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The aforementioned species are drawn to materially different isotopic labels, materially distinct organic metabolites or precursors thereof, and materially different diagnostic or therapeutic agents. The search for each of the above species is not co-extensive particularly with regard to the literature search. Further, a reference which would anticipate one species would not necessarily anticipate or even make obvious another species. Finally, the consideration for patentability is different in each case. Thus, it would be an undue burden to examine all of the above species in one application.

Because these species are materially and functionally distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each species is not necessarily required for the other species, election for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
